COMMENTS: Jason King, president of LA Life Underwriter PAC, NAIFA, request a waiver and states the following: As we are a small association and our political action committee is even smaller with only about $4400 in accessible funds at the time. A $1200 penalty represents a significant portion of the funds we have available to work with our state elected representatives to improve the access to and the quality of financial services in the state of Louisiana. As we have taken extensive efforts to correct the problem and because the assessed late filing penalty would severely impact our mission, we respectfully request a reconsideration of the penalty.

Board of Ethics members:

We are in receipt of October 13, 2020 late fee assessment for 2019 Annual Campaign Finance Disclosure report and acknowledge that the filing was 6 days late.

In the first quarter of this year a new board was installed and we reorganized to comply with new standards set by our National organization.

As part of that process, we released our existing staff and contracted with a new professional management company better suited to meet the needs and responsibilities of our association. This represented a significant amount of work from our volunteer board, the product of which are systems, processes and people in place to ensure that all of our management responsibilities are completed with accuracy and timeliness.

As we are a small association and our political action committee is even smaller with only about $4400 in accessible funds at the time. A $1200 penalty represents a significant portion of the funds we have available to work with our state elected representatives to improve the access to and the quality of financial services in the state of Louisiana.

As we have taken extensive efforts to correct the problem and because the assessed late filing penalty would severely impact our mission, we respectfully request a reconsideration of the penalty.

We deeply appreciate your consideration of our abatement request.

Sincerely,

Jason King
